

WHAT HI-FI? SOUND AND VISION

Reviews you can trust

Experience & heritage

We've been hard at work helping the world discover the best in hi-fi and home cinema for more than 37 years, and have getting on for 100 years of reviewing experience under our collective belts - so you can count on our expert opinions.

Dedicated test facilities

We test every product in the magazine or at whathifi.com against its peers in our bespoke £1m reviewing facilities.

And we test every product as a team, so our opinions and conclusions are always the result of collaboration.

We spot big trends first

MP3 player tests before the iPod even existed? High-def video before it even had a name? That was us. We keep you in touch with big stories and future trends.

Worldwide readership

With seven international editions in Africa, Asia and Europe, we reach over 1.6 million readers every month.

I know everybody here, well, thinks he needs you

Omnipotence can come at quite a pace. Until 3rd April 2010 people didn't even know they wanted a tablet computer, but dial forward fewer than four years and the market for tablets is enormous.

When internet search engines and supermarkets have their own brand of tablet to sell you, you know the tablet has achieved ubiquity. So we've lined up the second-generation iPad Mini (because smaller tablets are all the rage now, apparently on a collision-course with ever-more sizeable smartphones) in a definitive small-tablets Supertest (p38).

So I guess the question for the New Year is: what desirable, brilliantly marketed bit of as-yet unimagined tech will we all be desperate to own in four years' time? I hope it's a jetpack.

My products of the month

LG 55EA9800

Test p12

I've entered the competition on p33 under an assumed name.*

(*Not really. Sadly it's not allowed.)

Apple iPad Air

Test p22

Because I like a tablet as much as anyone, and this one looks, sounds and feels delightful.
